ChamberPAC Endorses Bob Smythe for 165th House District

HARRISBURG – ChamberPAC, the political arm of the Pennsylvania Chamber of Business and Industry, has endorsed Republican Bob Smythe for state representative of the 165th House District in the 2020 General Election. The 165th House District consists of parts of Delaware County.

“Pennsylvania is still reeling from the unprecedented economic impacts of the COVID-19 pandemic,” said PA Chamber President and CEO Gene Barr. “That’s why it is vitally important that our elected officials support smart policies that will help the state rebound and prioritize Pennsylvania’s economic health alongside its public health. Bob Smythe will do just that. Bob’s experience as both an educator and a first responder gives him a unique understanding of his community and what policies are needed to help not just Delaware County, but Pennsylvania as a whole, prosper. On behalf of the Pennsylvania Chamber’s broad-based membership and ChamberPAC, I encourage voters in the 165th House District to support Bob in the upcoming General Election.”

Born and raised in Delaware County, Smythe’s career has included 10 years as a classroom educator, teaching every grade from K-12 and working in some of the area’s most economically challenged school districts. He is very involved with his local community, coaching multiple sports programs, serving as a mentor for several after school programs and clubs and working as a first responder.

“The current pandemic and the devastating impact it has had on many Pennsylvania businesses underscores the importance of electing legislators who support our business community and job creators,” said Smythe. “We have seen far too many small and mid-sized businesses forced to close their doors in recent months, and countless other business owners who continue to struggle feel that their voices are not being heard by our current State Representative. I appreciate the support of ChamberPAC and, if elected, I will support polices that enable our businesses to succeed, create increased job opportunities for local residents and strengthen our local communities.”
